To Whom It May Concern:

Further to your recent request, Council has adopted the following motion:

"WHEREAS it is acknowledged that the Minister for Children's Services recently put out a communiqué "Colouring Outside the Lines", which expressed support by many professional youth advocates, as well as the premier Dalton McGinty, that the Ministry name should reflect the youth segment of society and be more inclusive of teenagers;

AND WHEREAS on March 10, 2004, the Ministry officially changed the name to the Ministry of Child and Youth Services, and Ontario's Minister of Child and Youth Services, Dr. Marie Bountrogianni, has already set up a schedule of round table discussions in communities across southern Ontario to meet with community partners to gather ideas on how to improve services for young people through discussion forums;

BE IT RESOLVED THAT we support the Ontario side youth organization, Town Youth Participation Strategy, in their ten year history working with youth groups all over Ontario compiling research that illustrates how definitive supports and measures provided to youth in sound, positive environments has increased positive growth and development of teenagers. That the research further illustrates that by providing programming and services to assist youth with constructive and hands-on approaches to problem-solving and providing a chance for each youth to experience opportunities that they would not otherwise have had exposure to, has proven to make the world of difference in those very formidable years before adulthood when they will become the next leaders and decision makers;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that T.Y.P.S. Inc., the non-profit organization that works tirelessly in support of youth centres across Ontario, be invited to the final round table discussion in Toronto, or that a special forum for the purpose of discussing the needs of youth be coordinated, with an invitation to TYPS Inc. to present the research and speak on behalf of well over one hundred youth organizations across 5 regions of Ontario;"

Yours truly
